Gen. Rommel's Forces Forced To Turn Back Says British Report

COLUMNS BEGIN MOVE TO "DIG IN"

Big Guns Of Tobruk Fort Open Fire On Nazi Africa Corps Forces

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
CAIRO, June 20.—Axis mechanized columns in eastern Libya have been forced to turn back to the west after meeting strong British opposition, the middle east high command announced today.

German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's advanced forces, moving eastward in two columns, were forced to retrace their steps after pushing to within 25 miles of the easternmost Libyan port of Bardia.

The two columns halted in the Tobruk area and immediately began to dig themselves into positions outside the defense perimeter.

Meanwhile, mobile British columns continued to harass the Axis forces along the entire coastal belt.

The official British communiqué said:

British forces yesterday engaged the enemy who had been advancing eastwards in two main columns. The enemy did not press the advance.

New Surprises In Military Equipment Promised By U. S.

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 20.—New surprises in fighting equipment and tactics are in the making today in America, and military and naval experts predict these factors will play increasingly important roles in this nation's offensive against the Axis powers during the next few months.

While details must remain secret for reasons of national security, there have been mounting indications recently that the American High Command is mapping a program that will be anything but pleasant for Germany, Italy and Japan.

The curtain partially lifted has been partly lifted in the past few months by developments throughout the world, including the defeat of Japan's navy in the Coral Sea and at Midway, and the routing of the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean.

R.A.F. In Heavy Offensive On Northern France

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, June 20.—Britain's Royal Air Force this afternoon delivered one of the largest offensive sweeps of the war against targets in northern France, the air ministry announced this evening.

The skies over the channel were black with planes as squadrons of bombers and fighters roared westward in endless relays.

Although no precise figure was announced, informed quarters believed that at least 1,000 planes participated in the attacks.

Blasting the chains of bad weather that have held them to their bases for the past few days, RAF flyers delivered the mightiest aerial onslaught today following heavy night raids on the German port of Emden and the industrial city of Osnabruk.

"The black-out is a war department order and we proposed to carry out the order," he asserted.

Gasless Week-end Is Faced By Many Eastern Motorists

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 20.—Motorists from North Carolina to Maine faced a gasless week-end today as thousands of filling stations along the Atlantic seaboard displayed "out of gas" signs.

C. A. Lockard, acting director of marketing for the New York office of the petroleum coordinator, said the situation could not be remedied before Monday when the dealers were to be able to draw on their quotas for the last 10 days of June.

At the same time, a petroleum industry executive who declined to permit the use of his name, declared that industry reports showed 90 per cent of all filling stations from North Carolina to Maine were temporarily shut down because of lack of gas.

Lockard said the major share of the blame was caused by the Office of Price Administration ruling which permitted motorists to double the unit value of their ration-card coupons from 3 to 6 gallons.

This view was shared by Sol A. Herzog, general counsel of the Eastern State Gasoline Dealers. He said the serious shortages were due to "bad miscalculations" by the OPA.

Herzog said a survey by his organization showed the "bulk of the shortage" was in the South.

Rubber Of Every Description Piling Up At Gas Stations Reporter Finds On City Tour

Outside New Castle gas stations. One station had a pile of heels—just heels. "We're getting heels to get those heels, the Japs," the attendant said.

Stations proudly displayed their heterogeneous collections—collections that featured girdles, panties, bathing suits, rain coats, hot water bottles, bottle washers, rubbers, ice packs, tennis shoes, toy wheels, rubber ash trays, rubber sponges, bicycle tires, auto tires, aprons, gloves, rubber dolls, Humpty Dumpty doll, old fashioned roll garters, elastic brassiere straps—almost anything that was ever made of rubber has found its way to New Castle gas stations.

China Prepares Last Ditch Stand

Will Make Attempt To Smash Back Japanese Invaders In Kiangsi

(International News Service)
CHUNGKING, June 20.—China is determined to pull her own weight during the coming critical weeks and will exert every effort to smash back the Japanese invaders in Kiangsi province, it was declared today in Chungking.

Meanwhile, all military quarters were greatly heartened by the appointment of Col. Caleb V. Haynes as U. S. bomber chief in China. His appointment was termed as a "fillip for our spirits."

The influential newspaper T'ung-pao declared in its leading editorial:

"The area west of Nanchang (capital of Kiangsi) is vital to national defense and is the point where invasion must be prevented."

"Western Kiangsi is the outpost of Hunan province, where there are many minerals important to national defense. China cannot tolerate further mistakes. The enemy must never reach the Hankow-Canton railroad from Kiangsi."

The government was urged to take immediate steps to flood roads, bridges and highways into lakes and ponds to prevent a further Japanese advance.

Three well-aimed bombs smashed the grounded Jap planes in the raid on the Jap airbase.

During the attack on shipping in Rabaul Harbor a number of other enemy vessels were believed to have been damaged in addition to the transport.

One Jap Zero fighter was destroyed in the engagement from which the United Nations fliers returned without a loss.

President And Prime Minister Of Britain Confer In Seclusion

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Diplomatic sources in Washington today believe that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill will reach a momentous decision within the next week or ten days on when and where American and British troops should be sent into action against the German armies in Europe.

The president and the British prime minister are continuing their historic third conference of the war in the utmost secrecy and seclusion. Whereabouts of the rendezvous in the United States of the two leaders of the United Nations and their grand strategy staffs remains a military secret of the first order.

However, official quarters in Washington make no secret of the fact that the main subject of discussion is the invasion of Europe.

Hitler Opened Drive On Russia Year Ago Monday

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service
Foreign Editor

The democratic world paid heartfelt tribute to unbreakable Russian resistance today on the eve of the first anniversary of the date on which Adolf Hitler sent his army of pillage across the frontiers of the Soviet Union.

On the Crimean battlefield, German troops were making a desperate effort to seize the great naval base of Sevastopol in time for Hitler to announce this victory tomorrow or on Monday. It was on June 22, 1941, that Hitler made what may prove to be his fatal mistake by taking on, for once, an adversary bigger and stronger than himself.

All Moscow dispatches indicated that the Soviet defense lines at Sevastopol were holding, although the Nazis made a dent two to three kilometers deep in the north. A British radio broadcast admitted that the danger to Sevastopol "must now be regarded as very great." But even if it is captured, the report of his stewardship that Hitler is believed planning to deliver to his people will fall far short of the overwhelming victories he had anticipated by this time.

Scrap Rubber Campaign In High Gear

Two Weeks Hunt Moves Rapidly

Directors Promise No Repetition Of "Pots And Pans" Frasco Of Last Year

CONDUCTED ON DIFFERENT LINES

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 20. —
The national scrap rubber campaign rolled along in high gear today with directors of the giant two week "scavenger hunt" promising the citizenry that it would not turn out to be another "Pots and Pans" frasco.
William E. Boyd Jr., chairman of the petroleum industry war council, called upon the public to forget the ill-fated aluminum drive of last summer, final details of which were made public yesterday.

Go Get The Rubber
"The aluminum drive is water over the dam," Boyd said. "Let's not worry about that. Let's go get the rubber as the President ordered."
The report on the aluminum campaign showed that the actual amount of the precious metal collected was only 42 per cent of expectations. Officials blamed the office of civilian defense, at that time directed by Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York, for inadequate preparation, and cited poor transportation facilities.

Boyd asserted, however, that the present rubber drive is being conducted along entirely different lines and that he would see no connection whatsoever between the two salvage campaigns.
Sees Big Response
As the campaign neared the close of its first week, Boyd predicted that the total collection would be "considerably above the guesses" publicly made by some of the campaign experts, and said the campaign is "rapidly developing into the greatest single drive ever staged in American history."

The aluminum report criticized the elimination of junk dealers from that campaign, asserting that it was "impracticable" to eliminate the dealers from any large scale scrap collection campaign. Boyd did not comment on this point.
Other officials expressed confidence, however, that the lack of direct participation by junk dealers in the rubber drive would not materially detract from its success.
They pointed out that prior to the campaign the government raised its scrap rubber price to $25 a ton, thereby stimulating collection efforts by the dealers.

EMDEN AND OSNABRUK BOMBED BY BRITISH

portant iron and steel works. In the vicinity are large sources of coal.
Formerly it was noted for its linen products.

First On Osnabruck
The assault on Osnabruck was the first since the R. A. F. began its series of multi-squadron raids against Nazi industrial areas.

Details of the raid and the main targets of the assault were not disclosed immediately.

The attack was the second against Germany proper this week. Wednesday night industrial areas in the Ruhr and Rhineland were bombed.
The Wednesday assault ended a two week period of inactivity over industrial Germany due to unfavorable weather.

Last major raid by strong squadrons of R. A. F. planes against industrial areas took place June 3
when Essen, site of the huge Krupp armaments works, was battered.
There was a subsequent raid against the port of Emden June 7
when U-boat construction facilities were bombed.

Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the British bomber command, has made it clear that no risks will be taken in bad weather and that therefore Britain's plans for systematic bombing of German war industries must remain flexible.

BLACKOUT MAY CLOSE DANCE HALLS

Likelihood is that all dance halls, especially those from which light may be seen from the outside will be closed down during the Blackout June 25. D. O. Davies, civil defense head for the city today stated that the war department's rules will be enforced strictly.

The racoon washes, or soaks is food before eating it. It holds the food in its fore paws and shakes it in the water. No doubt, this habit was acquired by the racoon from the necessity of rinsing the mud and sand from its prey, most of which consists of frogs, crawfish, stranded fish, etc.

mer M. Miller, 703 Hamilton avenue,

Army needs many men in these branches of service," he said.

GERMAN ATTACKS ARE CONTINUED DESPITE LOSSES

defenses at the northern end of Sevastopol bay for a distance of between one to two miles but the positions gained are overlooked by Soviet artillery batteries.

In one section before Sevastopol
more than a full German regiment was reported annihilated and 20 tanks and 10 planes destroyed.

(The News Chronicle in London said that according to Soviet sources
the German and Rumanian forces are losing an average of 3,000 troops daily. Von Manstein was said to have lost at least two of his 10 divisions.)

Nazis Disregard Losses
"In the Sevastopol sector the Germans continued to attack the defenses with utter disregard of the immense losses," the Red army high command said in a supplement to its regular communiqué.

"All attacks were repelled, and new blows inflicted on the enemy."
"During one day the defenders annihilated more than one regiment and destroyed 20 tanks and 10 enemy aircraft."

There was a full moon when the Khar'kov front when German Field Marshal Fedor von Bock attempted an offensive to regain possibilities lost in the recent drive by Marshal Semyon Timoshenko. It was believed the German commander is regrouping his battered forces to begin a new onslaught.

Smolensk Offensive
In some quarters it was felt that the reported new Soviet offensive toward Smolensk may have resulted from a Nazi move to launch a drive in that area in the hope of scoring some successes after failure of the Khar'kov offensive.

Northwest of Moscow on the Kalin-in front the Germans were said to have lost more than 1,500 men in two days of battling.

The high command reported that Soviet warships had sunk another 15,000 tons of Axis transport shipping in the Barents Sea.

Danger Very Great
"New York, June 20.—The danger to Sevastopol must now be regarded as very great," the British radio said today in a broadcast heard by CBS.

The Germans were said to have reached a highway leading to the fortress and, although they have not yet cracked the defense line, "the sheer weight of men and metal has pushed in a dangerous wedge."

The Nazis were said to be throwing wave after wave of troops into the battle, determined to take the great port and naval base no matter what the cost.

There was no confirmation of a German claim that Nazi shock troops have reached the dock area,
it was stated.

RUBBER PILING UP AT GAS STATIONS

dur, Oh, the kids can find the stuff."

Parents Aid
Another dealer told how parents were getting behind the children to put the drive over. For instance, two children had worked all one rainy day collecting rubber. That evening their father drove over to the gas station and told the attendant the kids would be over the next day. He gave the attendant two quarters and told him to give them to the children in addition to the money they would earn "so they'll feel that it's really worthwhile to work for their country," the parent explained.

As a whole, the spirit and willingness of the people is fine but a lot more work must be done in New Castle if all the available scrap is to be gathered. Your reporter, not looking for rubber but just as he walked from station to station picked up about two pounds of rubber lying on the street.

With 95 percent of our peace-time rubber supply cut off, every ounce of scrap rubber must be made available for the country's use. If not, gas rationing will be a national necessity and gas rationing will mean a lot to the average New Castle citizen—a lot of hardship New Castle can save itself if it goes all out for scrap rubber.

One Piece Weighs 150 Pounds
But this story is about the results of the collection at the end of its first week. We do not have to tell the people of New Castle how vital this campaign is.

To get back—the largest single piece of rubber yet collected is a huge rubber tire that weighs 150 pounds. It came in to the surprised attendant of one of the East Side stations Wednesday.

The collection, so far, seems to be spontaneous. There was only one collection by an organized agency as far as could be learned today and that was by the Salvation Army. It has yielded about 200 pounds.

On the whole, it seems that the city has not yet really started on the collection of scrap rubber. But every sign points to an extremely successful collection in New Castle
if the rest of our citizens do as well as those who have already contributed

NEW SURPRISES IN MILITARY EQUIPMENT

ing has never been told, and indications are that it may not be revealed—except possibly through another attack upon Japanese forces.

First concrete evidence of new American developments in tactics and equipment was provided by the signal U. S. victories over powerful Japanese invasion armadas in the Coral Sea and at Midway Island.

While the Japanese high command apparently believed that America's Pacific fleet lacked striking power and Axis propaganda broadcasts blamed the accusation that the U. S. Navy was "in hiding," powerful task forces staged the crushing attack upon the enemy in the Southwest Pacific.

New Type Planes

Following the Midway Island victory, American Army and Navy officials revealed for the first time that improved, new type planes had been employed against the Japanese and played an important part in the sweeping success over the Mikado's navy.

One of these "surprises" was disclosed by the Navy to be a new carrier-borne torpedo bomber much better than anything used hitherto. The army also revealed it had turned one of its speediest twinmotored bombers into a land-based torpedo plane.

Known as the "avenger," the new Navy plane is 25 per cent faster and has a much greater range than any used to date by this nation. It has a top speed in excess of 370 miles per hour, a range of 1,400 miles, a normal load capacity of 2,000 pounds of bombs and a ceiling of 20,000 feet.

The Army torpedo plane is a development of the widely-known and speedy B-26 Martin bomber which has been used successfully by the United Nations on war fronts throughout the world.

With these and possibly other undisclosed "surprises," American forces set the stage for the Japanese trouncing at Midway. Later developments indicated that Japanese over-confidence and misleading propaganda helped make the American "trap" a success.

It was recalled that following the Coral Sea battle, the Japanese claimed a major naval victory in the Southwest Pacific, and Tokyo radio commentators crowed for weeks about sinking and damaging a score of American and British warships in the engagement.

front in Europe.

Responsible diplomatic sources predict that the decision will be made within the next ten days, but that it will be a tentative decision dependent upon certain developments.

Chief Factors Considered

The chief factors which the diplomats believe the president and the prime minister must be taking into consideration in planning the launching of a major land offensive in Europe are:

1. Whether sufficient shipping can be made available to transport and supply an Anglo-American expeditionary force.

2. Whether the British retreat in Libya can be stopped and the Axis forces of German General Erwin Rommel held in check along the Egyptian border.

Therefore, it is thought that while the president and Churchill may decide where the attempt to open the second front should be made,
the actual launching of the offensive cannot be undertaken until sufficient shipping is available and the situation in Libya has been clarified.

However, the diplomats believe that Mr. Roosevelt and the prime minister may set a tentative date for the start of the Anglo-American "big push" against the German armies in Europe, conditional upon other factors being favorable at the scheduled time.

Shipping Situation

The shipping situation is understood to have shown some improvement recently, both in regard to production and in the reduction of losses from Axis submarine attacks.

It is felt that it may be possible for the president and Churchill to plan on the number of ships that could be made available for a European-invasion attempt at a certain time later this summer. The success of any such tentative plan, it is pointed out, would depend upon the ability of the American Navy to overcome the menace of the Axis submarine campaign on this side of the Atlantic.

In regard to the Libyan situation,
it is not yet clear to official Washington whether the British setback is due to bad generalship or inferior equipment.

If the former is the case, it is felt that the situation can be remedied by a change in the British high command. However, if superiority of the German mechanized equipment is responsible for the Nazi advance, the situation will be viewed in a graver light.

MISS LUCILLE M. BRABY BRIDE OF WM. J. ORCHARD

Rev. Homer B. Davis officiated at the lovely wedding which took place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the principals being Miss Lucille M. Braby, daughter of Mrs. Mae Braby, 224 Kurtz Place, and William J. Orchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Orchard, of Sharon. Nuptial music was provided by E. E. Bransetter, who presided at the console, contributing a program of appropriate music preceding and during the ceremony.

Standing before the altar embanked with palms and ferns in an attractive arrangement providing a soft green background for clusters of white flowers, the couple exchanged vows. The single ring service was read in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives of the couple.

Given in marriage by her uncle, A. E. Lutton, the bride wore a white moire taffeta toe-length gown, fashioned with long leg-o-mutton sleeves, high neckline, accented with a yoke of tulle. Her fingertip veil of tulle was caught with a tiara, and her jewelry was a locket which was worn by the bridegroom's mother on her wedding day. She carried a white Bible, enstreaked with a white orchid.

Miss Zoe Weiss, as maid of honor, appeared in a mist blue taffeta gown, floor length and patterned similar to that worn by the bride. Adorning her head was a matching bonnet, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

L. E. Patterson, of Sharon, served as best man. Ushering were Robert Braby, brother of the bride, and Robert Powell, cousin of the bride.

Following a congratulatory period in the church, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lutton, of 909 North Mercer street. Guests included immediate families, friends and relatives numbering nearly a hundred. The nuptial motif predominated in the appointments throughout the house, and the bridal theme was cleverly featured in the setting of the large table, where a buffet lunch was served by girl friends of the bride.

Included in this group were Miss Eva King, Miss Mary Book, Mrs. Catherine Vandusen, Miss Marjorie Sainsbury, the latter a cousin of the groom, of Sharon; Mrs. A. Rice, of Mrs. Joseph Campbell, Mrs. O. McNeese, Mrs. Helen Hildebrand and Miss Janet Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Orchard left later this afternoon on a motor trip of several days. Upon returning they will take up residence at 39 East Water street, Hubbard, O.

The bride has been affiliated with the local Pennsylvania Power company as a stenographer. The bridegroom is connected with the Westinghouse, at Sharon, in the rate department.

BUT FIRST THE WAR MUST BE WON

SUMNER WELLES, under-secretary of state, is performing a useful service in impressing upon Americans the desirability of permitting a cooling-off period, after the war, before final terms of peace are made. It is reasonable to believe that a long armistice, allowing complete study of the peace treaty's requirements, should go far to remove the danger of making mistakes as grave as those made at Versailles.

It is well to keep in mind, while the war is still raging, the necessity of a peace based upon justice to all nations. In such a peace international co-operation must be a prime factor. Some form of organization must be worked out which will prevent, for all time, such crimes of militarism and aggression as have been committed by Hitlerite Germany and war-mad Japan.

But a word of warning is timely. Although we must keep as our objective the achievement of a peace of justice and the highest idealism, we shouldn't permit our concern over the future peace to weaken our resolve, here and now, to win the war. For America, victory over the barbarous Japanese government and the brutal Nazis is the first requirement. There can be no peace of justice until these cruel forces are wiped from the earth.

Furthermore, in all our preliminary discussions of the peace, we should be careful not to give the impression that we are determined to impose our concept of democracy upon other nations, whether they are ready for it or not. Americans properly believe their form of government to be the best ever devised by man. But to appear to be seeking its acceptance by other nations as a condition of the peace would open the United States to the charge of attempting to interfere dictatorially in the internal affairs of other states.

We must strive, through war and post-war co-operation, to build a just and lasting peace. But we should remember that other nations have their own ideals and aspirations just as we have. So long as they are not predatory, we should respect them.

GEORGE HORTON

The other day in New York City George Horton died at 82 years of age. His life followed in the footsteps of a group of Americans who have had prominent part in the nation since the start of the Republic—able writers who wanted to see the world and went abroad under that urge.

One of the earliest of these Americans was John Quincy Adams. His descriptions of Central Europe are not surpassed in American literature. Washington Irving's official service in Spain was of incalculable value to the young American nation. So was John Lathrop Motley's official stay in Holland.

Horton was a friend of Walt Whitman. He was a poet, a Greek scholar. Entering the consular service in his youth, he was stationed at different periods in Budapest, in Athens and in Smyrna. He was in the latter city in 1922 when in five days the Turks evacuated more than 40,000 refugees.

When the train carrying American diplomats out of Italy recently reached Rapallo it picked up Horton, took him to Lisbon and he boarded the Drottningholm for America. Ten days after his arrival he passed away.

WAR BOND BUYING AT THE FRONT

Our soldiers, sailors and airmen, buying War Bonds from their scanty pay, are setting an example of patriotism these days that should stir the consciences of some of us at home.

It would be understandable if some of our fighting men should feel they are doing about all that could be expected of them when they risk their lives and endure hardships and privations in far distant outposts.

You might imagine also that they haven't much time to think of helping to pay for the war they are so gallantly waging. We were informed of a letter, the other day, from an American airman in Australia to his father. It referred toward the end of an enclosure of $125 which the son wished to be invested in War Bonds and stamps. He remarked that he hoped to send a similar sum each month, paraphrasing the popular saying to read: "If you keep on buying, we'll keep on flying."

But the boys at the front are buying as well as flying and fighting. They know what this war is costing and they want to do their share of paying. With such an example before us, how can we fail to do our part?

POST-WAR CHANGES

Even the last hold-outs who hoped against hope that it would still be the same world after the war have given up, and there is accumulating evidence of vast changes in America, especially in industrial output.

Rubber enters into one phase of it. When peace returns America probably will be manufacturing at least a million tons of synthetic rubber annually, supplemented by perhaps a hundred thousands tons of natural rubber from Latin America. East Indies rubber may be compelled to struggle along without the American market, which formerly took more than 90 per cent of the Dutch output.

But the greatest changes may be imminent in the light metals. By the time the war ends a probable capacity of 2,000,000 tons of aluminum annually and 300,000 tons of magnesium—the lightest industrial metals known—will be fighting for markets. The chances are they will cut into traditional markets for steel, copper, zinc and other metals. Plastics, too, are being rapidly developed and may get a toe-hold where other materials have long been entrenched.

It is anticipated that the lighter metals and plastics may sharply reduce steel in motor cars, machinery, boats, furniture, bridges and other products. The claim is already being put forward that aluminum shingles will wear indefinitely without care and are good insulation against heat and cold, so that even lumber will not be immune to coming competition.

There is little doubt that there will be dislocations, new industrial centers and shifts of population after the war. And it behooves every community to keep an eye open for the main chance.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHURCH AND GAS RATIONING

It takes more self-drive to do the things you think you ought to do than to do just the things you want to do. My observation is that in areas where many adults and children walked, or went by bus or trolley car to Sunday school or church, a little snow or rain would keep fewer home than in areas where all persons went in comfortable automobiles.

Almost surely the gas rationing and the shortage will reduce Sunday school and church attendance.

Since people are creatures of habit, those accustomed to walk or go by public transportation to church or Sunday school will not consider it a hardship to continue doing so. Indeed, they might even find it a more satisfying experience now. Yet how can healthy persons used to the ease and luxury of automobiles afford to deny themselves the necessary effort to walk or go by public conveyances to church, if they consider going to church worth while? How can they afford to let their children escape so small an effort in a worthy enterprise? How can these parents afford to let their children see them be so easily diverted from a purpose they have held, up to now, to be so valuable?

Incidentally, walking to Sunday school or church would seem to afford most of us parents and our children a motive to improve our health through outdoor exercise. Of course many adults and whole families have been in the habit of traveling many miles by automobile to a Sunday school or church that is not accessible in any other way.

Go To Neighborhood Church
The practical way out is to attend Sunday school or church right in your own neighborhood. In towns and cities almost no homes are beyond reasonable walking distance of church. Almost any one can learn to worship in any church, however different from the kind he was used to. Always in his private self he can hold to his own convictions, pray his own prayers, carry on his own meditations. To be able to gain a spiritual uplift, a wholly unaccustomed church service is good proof of one's spiritual strength and growth. I have a notion that for children and adults, Sunday school or church attendance almost anywhere is better, as a rule, than no attendance, especially in these times. Attendance at public worship in one's immediate neighborhood should result in more friendliness there, in more tolerance, more democracy.

Bible Thought For Today

God has given every one some talent. He expects us to use this God-given power to help humanity, at home, in social relationships, in church and school. We betray a trust when we hide a talent; And I was afraid and went away and hid the talent in the earth.—Matt. 25:25.

FBI Considers Gestapo Methods Stupid
Unable To Catch Assassins In Europe
Retribution For Killings Is Shocking

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 20—LIKE all other civilized folk, members of Director J. Edgar Hoover's justice departmental Federal Bureau of Investigation are inexpressibly shocked by Herr Hitler's Gestapo's indiscriminate massacres, in Germany conquered areas and even in the Reich itself, in retaliation for acts of violence against Nazi functionaries in their various midsts, such as the assassination of Henkman Reinhard Heydrich in Czechoslovakia.

What professionally disquists FBI spokesmen, however, is the obvious inability of the Gestapo agents, expert detectives as they call themselves, to catch the actual perpetrators of the killings they're supposed to prevent but not succeed in putting a stop to.

The idea is that the FBI not only regards the German secret service as a gang of unmitigated wholesale murderers, it also despises 'em as utterly incompetent snoopers.

It hates the Gestapo as much as anybody else does.

Nevertheless, FBI operatives recognize that if a staff of "trees" is assigned to protect Nazi officialdom, it's up to that staff to PROTECT 'em, or if it fails occasionally, to catch and punish the authors of what they consider an anti-Nazi outrage, now and again.

U. S. Justice
For instance, we have here a few Axis representatives, who have to be kept in suppression. But we don't attend to 'em without trials. Before being so much as pinched, they have to be detectiveized intensively. Nobody's penalized until he's had something pinned on him conclusively. He has to be convicted as regularly as a burglar.

But suppose that some Reich-dominated community is suspected of having a handful of anti-Nazi in its makeup, but the Gestapo can't spot the exact individuals. In such a situation the Gestapo's system (Continued On Page Six)

CONFLICTING LAWS
This is one on the Federal Government.

The Congress of the United States erected what is known as the Home Owner's Loan Corporation, and you all know what service that organization performs.

The Congress also enacted the "Soldiers and Sailors' Civil Relief Act" which precludes taking any money judgment against one in the Armed Forces of the nation until after his discharge at the close of the war.

A young man gave up going to college to help support his widowed mother. The mother was buying her home with small monthly payments. The holder of the mortgage was this same Home Owner's Loan Corporation, and the small monthly payment was being made by that same young man who had taken over his mother's obligation. He had paid several hundred dollars, including taxes, to the Corporation, upon the indebtedness when he was drafted, because of his reduced income in the Army, he was unable to keep up the payments on the mortgage.

It was then that the United States government, the proprietor of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, started to foreclose, in spite of the boy's promise to resume payments as soon as he was discharged from the service. The Supreme Court of the State of Arizona has just ordered the foreclosure proceedings halted. The Court added:

"The act was meant to protect the interest of those who were called to the defense of their country and who, for that reason, were unable to keep up the payments upon obligations which they had incurred previous to their being called in to service. The act has always been upheld as a proper exercise of the war powers of the Federal government."

The Court pointed out that the act applies only to those mortgages which were in existence before the act was passed. Even then, much is left to the discretion of the Judge in charge of the case.

Even an "all wise" government may make mistakes.

Mr. Davis' Job

Washington, June 20. THE CONSOLIDATION of the war information agencies under a single head is as logical as the consolidation of the war-production agencies under a single head. The Elmer Davis appointment was as clearly indicated as that of Donald Nelson. It would have been better had there been no long delay in either. This business of waiting until things are in a mess before heeding the voice of experience is exceedingly costly.

NEVERTHELESS, better late than not at all. And the president is to be commended for three things—first, for adopting the single-head system for war publicity; second, for picking an able and qualified man as director; third, for giving him the authority needed to do the job which, incidentally, was what he did not give the gifted Mr. MacLeish. One of the chief things that made it impossible for that gentleman to be effective was his inability to control, reduce or direct the vast number of publicity agencies with whom the government departments are thickly cluttered.

APPARENTLY Mr. Davis will have the power to do those things. It is to be hoped that he uses it to shrink this terribly expensive and largely unnecessary pay-roll army, upon which rests responsibility for no inconsiderable part of the confusion of the Washington scene. Certainly no man with Mr. Davis' extraordinary ability to condense information is likely to be happy directing a department in which 3,000 uncoordinated publicity agencies are daily producing an untidy mass of overlapping, duplicating and largely futile releases, many of which border on the silly.

AS A radio commentator Mr. Davis made a fine reputation for the compactness of his nightly report on the state of the world. Never using an unnecessary word, he put into five minutes what many others are unable to do in fifteen. It is difficult to imagine a man with a talent such as that doing nothing about 3,000 subordinates for whom he is personally responsible and whose production of unnecessary words is beyond all reason. It can be assumed that Mr. Davis will want to curtail the output and reduce the size of the publicity army of which he is now commander in chief.

BUT it would be a mistake to think that it can be done without a (Continued On Page Five)

The strongest argument for buying War Bonds appeared in newspapers a few days ago.

It was a full-page advertisement, showing the picture of a grinning, buck-toothed Jap holding a sword from which blood was dripping.

The headline read: "PLEASE NOT TO BUY U. S. WAR BONDS AND THANK YOU SO MUCH!"

The test explained that by not buying bonds you are actually helping the enemy and sabotaging our own effort.

"They grin when the sales go down," said the ad, "they know that War Bonds deliver a rain of steel into the camps of the Axis."

Don't think of War Bonds in terms of money. Think of your dollars invested in them as bullets and guns and planes and ships.

You may not be a winning uniform. You may be too old or too young to fight.

But your dollars can do war work, just as if tem is to wipe out the whole community, to make sure that no bet's being overlooked in the process.

The FBI considers this method unscientific, as well as inhuman.

The FBI boys are detectives—very class ones, but, in principle, just like any other detective corps, here or elsewhere.

Now, the average town is afflicted by some criminals who ought to be caught—steep men and various assorted outlaws. The local "tees" are anxious to get 'em. They don't advocate arresting EVERYBODY, though, with no exceptions.

The Gestapo does—and not alone. ARRESTING everybody, but killing everybody who's arrested, and without a trial, either. True, there is a certain consistency in killing 'em all without trial, for trials might result in 10 or 15 per cent of acquittals.

The FBI doesn't indeed, make this latter allowance in the Gestapo's favor.

Its judgment is that, in addition to being plain homicidal, its crew are hamfats as detectives.

Its theory is that, if the Gestapo wants to stop the assassination of Nazis (provided the bumping off of a chap like Hangman Heydrich can properly be referred to as assassination), the birds who executed him, should be landed. Otherwise, it's a fair assumption that they'll keep it up, or they wouldn't have taken the initial chances.

Reprisal Threats

Oh, yes, it's argued that an anti-Nazi, even if he gets away, will be scared by threats of reprisals against friends and relatives that he's left behind him.

It's a fair guess, though, that he'll have tipped these folks off to what's coming. And, anyway, if the Gestapo doesn't know who he is, how's it going to know just what friends and relatives of his to reprise against? They may be caught in the jam, to be sure—but so's ANYBODY liable to be caught in the jam in the midst of an indiscriminate massacre.

Until the Soviet's became involved in the war, alongside the democracies, the Russian OGPU was regarded by the FBI with as much disfavor as the Gestapo is today.

It's different now.

The OGPU's quite well spoken of now.

Maybe this is partly because the OGPU's on our side now. Yet FBI spokesmen say at present that it's been more intelligent, all along, than ever the Gestapo was.

In short, the professional detective's essential charge against the Gestapo isn't so much wholesale murder as wholesale idiocy.

Naval Training Recruits Gain Weight Rapidly

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 20—Naval officials reported today that recruits at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station gained so much weight from putting on the feedbag that release of clothing was required.

Revealing that thousands of recruits had gained from 5 to 15 pounds, Rear Admiral W. B. Young, paymaster general of the navy and chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, attributed this weight increase to the "boot" routine of eating wholesome, substantial food and of working and sleeping on a systematic schedule.

The supply corps report on clothing issued at the training center shows that the average blue-jacket is a pretty evenly developed lad. He wears a size 7 hat, a shirt with a size 15 collar, a 38 jumper, trousers with a 30-inch waistband and socks size 11. His shoes are 8 1/2.

Young said that the navy considers proper, appetizing food one of the principal factors in the maintenance of high morale. And he added these toughening pounds are put on at the relatively small cost of 55 cents a day per man.

A blue jacket's typical menu follows:

Breakfast—Fruit, cereal and milk, baked pork sausage, country gravy, fried potatoes, hot biscuits and butter, coffee.
Dinner—Julienne soup, baked spiced ham, raisin sauce, fried apples, creamed cauliflower, baked sweet potatoes, bread and butter, pineapple upside-down cake, coffee.
Supper—Fricassee of veal, with egg dumplings, butter peas, mashed potatoes, combination salad, bread and butter, Boston cream pie, tea.

Urge Relaxing Of Sugar Rationing Rules In Nation

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 20—Industrial experts today appealed to government officials to relax sugar rationing restrictions as a means of alleviating the present surplus which is bulging warehouses.

With bumper crops due from Hawaii and Cuba, warehouse owners wonder where they will store the perishable product. They recommend that present rationing allotments be double at least as a means of reducing their present inventories.

Meanwhile, agricultural experts predict that the nation's fruit crop—a large percentage of which is preserved by housewives—bids to rot because home canners do not have the necessary sugar. To avert this, OPA officials have been asked to increase canning sugar allowances to 30 pounds per person.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Equipment in clothing for our American flyers costs about $260 for every aviator, so it takes a lot of money for our rapidly increasing air force. This clothing is especially manufactured of horsehide jackets and trousers, fleece lined.

The kit also includes a "B-70" which is a complete jacket and trousers zipper suit, also made of horsehide and is fleece lined. Two pairs of shoes, helmet, goggles and other lesser equipment complete the ensemble. Your purchases of War Bonds, at least ten percent of your income every pay day, will help buy these outfits for our flyers everywhere, for our Army and Navy needs thousands of them.

First Treason Case To Be Heard June 29

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 20—Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle today set June 29 as the date for the country's first treason case since World War I, upon the arraignment of Max Stephan, Detroit restaurant owner accused of aiding an escaped German army flier.

Stephan is charged with treason for allegedly aiding Lieut. Peter Krug, who escaped from a Canadian prison camp and made his way through Detroit to San Antonio, Tex., where he was captured. Krug subsequently was returned to provincial authorities.

Vernie Amberson, attorney for Stephan, entered a plea of not guilty; the defendant stood mute at his arraignment.

Sends War Bond To Young Nephew

Richard Ricker, of Pearl Harbor, Hawaiian Islands, son of Mrs. Paul L. Humphrey, of 708 West Clayton street, has sent a $25.00 war bond by air mail to his baby nephew and namesake, Richard William Kennedy, son of his sister, Mrs. Jean Kennedy, of North Liberty street.

Richard Ricker is pharmacist mate in the naval service. He is putting all the money he can into war bonds, and believes if all American people would do this, it would bring the war to an earlier conclusion.

CONVERTIBLE TRUCK

Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock a truck pulled up to the curb on North Liberty street. The driver and passengers got out, went into a drug store, got some soft drinks, and were soon out again, and all aboard to be on their way. The conveyance proved to be a Pennsylvania Railroad convertible truck, to travel on rails or highway. The two railroad wheels on the front and rear, on their spindles, being suspended while travelling the highway. The party of about 10 were on an inspection tour. The truck was inscribed Pennsylvania Railroad, Cambridge, O., Cleveland Division. Their next stop was Leesburg. There were black and white safety marks on the rear, and the word "Blow two shorts to pass," of course, that applied while they were on the highway.

ANCIENT BLADE

Dan Rainey, barber, has a razor reported to be over 100 years of age. The blade is quite heavy, and about 1½ inches wide, and it has a black horn handle. The heavy back of the blade plainly indicates much age, and that it has been honed very many times. With a good edge on this "prodigious blade" no pressure would be necessary to "cut off the whiskers." This razor was presented to Mr. Rainey by a customer. The inscription on the heel of the blade is "John Shaw's Celebrated Razor Ready to Use."

COLLECTING RUBBER.

Thursday afternoon a young lady approaching the traffic light at Liberty and Madison avenue, could be seen to be heavily laden. She had to wait for the light, when it was discovered that she was aiding in the collection of old rubber, having a quantity of old rubber hose, hot water bottles, etc., aboard.

He was married for 30 years to the former Bessie Nagy, who survives him. He was a member of the Magyar Presbyterian church, of Farrell, the United Mine Workers of America and the Loyal Order of Moose.

Garden Hints

It is not too late to make additional plantings of beets, carrots, lettuce and radishes in order to have a succession. In many sections these vegetables may be planted until the first of July.

Garden makers who have had trouble with seed rotting in cold frames or in the open ground, should use copper oxide at the rate of one teaspoonful a pound, or a pinch for a seed package. This material should be shaken with the seeds in a canning jar to make sure the seeds are well-coated.

Lettuce planted at this season should be placed in the shade of a tree or building. Otherwise, give it artificial shade so that it will be sweet and not run to seed.

Beans are able to obtain much of their nitrogen from the air as other legumes. For this reason they do not deplete the soil but leave it in better condition for a succeeding crop than do non-leguminous crops.

Dodgers Fatten Lead; Waner Gets 3,000th Hit

Paul Cracks Hit Against Buccos To Join Circle; Pittsburgh Nips Braves

NEW YORK YANKEES DROP 3RD IN ROW

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20.—There were a couple of poisonous parties hanging around the National League today. Paul Waner, who has been menacing pitchers in the senior circuit going on 17 years, today boasted a feat accomplished by only six other men in major league history. The Boston outfielder yesterday rapped a clean single against Pittsburgh to enter the claimed circle of batters who have gathered 3,000 hits.

Despite Waner's resounding knock that drove in a run in the fifth inning, the Pirates went on to win the game, 7 to 6 in the eleventh inning. Waner served 15 of his now going on 17 years in the majors, with the Buccaners, against whom he filled the niche in baseball's hall of fame. Preceding Big Poison into the select group were Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Pop Anson, Honus Wagner, This Speaker and Nap Lajoie.

The other poisonous party strutting around today were the Brooklyn Dodgers. They smacked the challenging St. Louis Cardinals for the second successive day, winning by a 4 to 3 score. Whitlow Wyatt, allowed eight hits in registering his sixth triumph and increasing the Dodgers' lead to 6 and 1/2 games.

Joe Medwick thrilled the ladies day crowd of 26,000 fans by running his hitting streak to 22 games.

New York clung to its tenuous hold on fourth place by splitting a doubleheader with Chicago. The Cubs won the opener, in which Lou Novikoff slashed a home run, a triple and two singles, by a 7 to 4 count. But the Giants came back with a 6 to 3 victory in the nightcap.

Big Johnny Mize put the second game on ice for Manager Mel Ott and his pals by slamming a home run with a mate aboard in the seventh. It was big John's ninth of the season.

Seventh For Walters Bucky Walters pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 6 to 4 triumph over the Philadelphia Phils in a night game. Walters allowed eight hits in scoring his seventh victory against five defeats.

In the American league, Detroit, bolstered in spirit as a result of winning their series with the New York Yankees, whipped Washington 5 to 1. Al White allowed the Nats only six hits for his fifth victory of the season. Doubles by Ned Harris and Pinky Higgins and singles by Jimmy Bloodworth and Billy Hitchcock, plus an error, enabled the surging Tigers to collect four tallies in the fourth stanza. Higgins completed the scoring with a double and a miscue by Bruce Campbell in the fifth.

Johnny Niekling permitted only four hits in hurling the St. Louis Browns to a 4 to 0 win over the Philadelphia Athletics in a contest under the arcs.

Dom Dimaggio's home run gave the Boston Red Sox a 1 to 0 win over the Chicago White Sox, and Mel Harder set the Yankees down with four hits to enable the Cleveland Indians to score a 5 to 4 triumph over the New Yorkers. Both were night games.

Wright Keeps Toga; Kayoes Harry Jeffra

(International News Service) BALTIMORE, Md., June 20.—A tenth-round technical knockout over Harry Jeffra of Baltimore today kept the featherweight boxing crown intact for Chalky Wright, hard hitting champion from Los Angeles.

Jeffra stepped fast the first three rounds, but after three more rounds with Wright in command the challenger came out in the 7th with a deep cut over the right eye. Jeffra took a short count late in the 9th and was floundering in the 10th when the referee awarded the fight to Wright.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

The world is a small place after all. Who would believe a marine and soldier who played football against each other in 1940, would meet here on recruiting duty?

asked Sergeant Jimmy Final, U. S. Marines, stationed in the Post-Office building.

"You see, it was this way," said Jimmy. "One day I came into the office wearing a sweater received at Quantico for playing on the Marine team. Sergeant John Bilpuch of the Army recruiting station saw it and inquired: 'When did you play with the marines?'"

"To 1940 and 1941," I replied. He asked if I had played against Fort Meyer. Va. In 1940, I replied in the affirmative. It was in October and the day was cold. Snow and rain fell. I yet remember the day because I lost half the skin off my back, blocking.

"It developed," the marine explained, "that Sergeant Bilpuch played right end on the Fort Meyer team and I played right guard on the Marine team. Being a blocking guard the right end was the man I was assigned to block. Of course, 'smiled Final' we differ as to 'who took who' that day."

"The Marines finally won eight to six. The score previously was six to two in favor of the Army until the last few minutes of play. However, the Marines pushed over a touchdown, cooping by two points. The field was soft and muddy and it was difficult to handle the ball."

"One thing the Marines had in their favor," was the presence of General Little, an ardent fan. He sat in uniform throughout the game despite the downpour and cold. Final and Bilpuch are training for their battle on the Jefferson A. C. eight, bout card in the air-cooled Arena, June 30, which falls on a Tuesday night.

There was no Tommy Yarnosz vs. Ernie Peall fight last night in Beaver Falls, one of the principals having been taken ill yesterday. No report of the postponement was received here. Billy Conn, soldier, is home on a furlough and has told Pittsburgh friends his hand injured in an in-law. Straight Rules Kitchen battle, is entirely mended.

Leo Hill, head of local umpires, assigned the following men for tomorrow's games:

Bessemers: Indies, Gormel and Morgan.

Elders: W. Side, Price and Shook.

Slovaks: Moose, Irwin and Tex Richards.

W. Pittsburg: Croton, Smolnick and General.

Hogan's 10 Under Sets Golf Record

Ben Makes 72 Par Look Silly In Hale America Event; Turnesa's 131 Tops

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Ill., June 20.—Drop Mike Turnesa, Ben Hogan, Horton Smith, Lawson Little, Herman Barron, Jimmy Demaret, Oley Cismann, Mike Sipula and Denny Shute into a sack, shake well and the winner of the Hale America open golf tournament in its third round today at the Ridgemoor Country will pop out.

If there is room in the bag, it might be wise to make room for Ben Hogan, who reached Hershey, Pa., after learning the rudiments of golf in his native Texas.

As the third round of play got under way today Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., of the famous Turnesa golfing family, paced the field of 98 golfers with a score of 131 for 36 holes, of golf, which would represent considerable golf on any course but the Ridgemoor club's.

The simplicity of the Ridgemoor course is not the only reason that Turnesa's lead is secure, but is secondary to the challenge of Hogan. There have been several books written about the perfect golf, but if the authors failed to mention this Mr. Hogan, as their hero, they have missed a golden opportunity.

When it is time to take in the chips that go with professional golf, this same Mr. Hogan can be found within hailing distance. Hogan was at least superb in yesterday's play. When he knocked ten strokes off the 36-36, 72 par at Ridgemoor, the Texan nominated himself as an individual to be reckoned with until a better man came along. If a better man comes along today or tomorrow then Hogan, this Texan looks to be in a good position to argue the situation anyhow.

The Hale America tournament may not go down as the best tournament of the year, but it can be classified as the strangest. Witness such stalwarts as Capt. Robert Tyne Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Craig Wood, Byron Nelson, Chick Evans, Paul Runyon, being at least a good mashie shot from the lead of the tournament.

Elders-W. Side Bessemer-Indies Clash On Sunday

City Leaguers Primed For Crucial Tiffs; First Half Race Close

Ignoring the fact that the Fourth of July is still 14 days off, City Baseball leaguers expect to ignite a heavy load of fireworks Sunday. With the first half race as tight as a clasp on a Scotchman's pocketbook, local diamond followers will get more than their share of championship ball.

Here's the card: Bessemer at Lawrence Indies, Cedar street grounds.

Elders at West Side Tigers, Lee avenue field.

Slovaks at Moose, Marshall field, Scott street.

W. Pittsburg at Croton, Cascade street field.

The rivals start swinging at 3. The spotlight will be focused on two fields, Cedar street grounds and Lee avenue.

On the Cedar diamond, Bessemer, currently leading the loop along with the Elders, faces an angered Lawrence Indies aggregation which is determined to hit the winning column again after being bounced around in its last four battles.

An always dangerous West Side Tigers hope to jar the championship aspirations of the Elders on Lee avenue field. The sixth warders will shoot the works to snap the Elders' five game winning streak.

The Moose club, which is right in the middle of the scramble, plays host to the Slovaks, on Marshall field, in another headliner. The Moose is parked in third place with 10 wins compared to seven losses.

West Pittsburg, which refuses to be counted out of the race, travels to Croton district to battle the Croton A. C. The "Gashouse Gang" aims to lift itself up into the top by winning its remaining half dozen skirmishes.

Leo Hill, head of local umpires, assigned the following men for tomorrow's games:

Bessemers: Indies, Gormel and Morgan.

Elders: W. Side, Price and Shook.

Slovaks: Moose, Irwin and Tex Richards.

W. Pittsburg: Croton, Smolnick and General.

Louis Can't Fight Until He Finishes Military Training

Heavyweight Champ Assigned To Fort Riley, Kansas, War Department Announces

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20.—Refused permission to engage in another title or non-title fight until he has completed his basic military training, heavyweight champion Joe Louis has packed his gloves and extra uniform to leave for Fort Riley, Kansas.

Louis, who is Corp. Joseph Barrow on the Army rolls, has been assigned to the special services branch and has been ordered to the Kansas post to complete his military course.

Joe, who has had one title fight for Army relief and one for Navy relief, had asked permission to fight again in order to make enough to pay his last year's income tax of $117,000.

Secretary of War Stimson announced that the war department would not grant permission until the fighter had completed his basic military training.

The secretary said that Louis' public appearances "have made it impossible for him to complete his Army training and this is unfair to both Louis and the Army."

Rapping out 10 hits, the Slovak club kept its championship candle burning by downing Croton, 8-6, on Cascade field last night.

The Slovaks found Stone's offerings much to their liking, getting enough swats in the opening two frames to cross home plate for a half dozen tallies. Croton sputtered in the fourth, collecting a quartet of runs. Anderson, however, smartly protected the margin.

Parritt, Mingione and Budai led the winners' hitting department. Woods, Morella and N. Robinson led the parade for the Crotonites.

Elders Win, Gain First Place Tie

Bessemer-Elders Top City Baseball Leaguers Each With Nine Wins, Five Losses

SLOVAK CLUBBERS TRIP CROTON, 8-6

By stretching its victory skein to five straights Friday night, the surging Elder A. C. gained a tie for the first half leadership of the City Baseball league.

The O'Leary-coached aggregation spanked the Lawrence Indies, 7-4, on Cedar street grounds to move alongside of Bessemer. The two teams lead the circuit each with nine wins and five losses.

The Elders pounced on two pitchers, Savage and Michalofka, for seven hits. A half dozen Indies miscues helped. Gibson was the hitting star for the winners, blasting a homer and a single. Michalofka clubbed a triple for the losers. The loss left the Indies tied with the Tigers for last place.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The speed, the stamina and the spirit of a victorious America will be placed on exhibition for all the world to see over at Randall's Island Stadium this afternoon when the greatest collection of track and field stars in the nation meet in the National A. A. U. championships for the benefit of the Army emergency relief fund.

A crowd of more than 20,000 fans is expected to swarm into the beautiful stadium and contribute to a purse of about $75,000 for their buddies in the service as the champions of the country renew old rivalries and their never-ending assault on old Pop Time.

Leslie MacMillan, Cornelius Warner, Bob Davis, Gregory Rice, Al Bizio—the list runs on and on of champions and aspiring champions, who will put on the greatest track carnival of the new year.

The sentimental race of the day will be the 1500 meter run in which MacMillan, the darling of the sidelines of New York, will attempt to snap out of one of the worst slumps of his career.

Beaten three times in the last month, the wise ones are saying Mac has lost his "kick" is burned out etc. etc. It certainly would seem that way, off his most recent races in which he was whipped by Don Burnham of Dartmouth, and only last week, by Bobby Ginn of the University of Nebraska and Leroy Weed of USC.

Wenda connected for a homer. Clark and Klamut hit hard, too. Vargo rang up his fourth pitching victory, allowing seven hits.

McMullen Explains Blackout To Police

Approximately 60 persons pledged to perform as auxiliary policemen heard Chief of police Willis G. McMullen explain their duties last night at a meeting in city hall.

Chief McMullen said the auxiliary police would have all the authority of peace officers during emergency situations. However, they are expected to use that authority only when assigned to emergency situations.

They will report to the chief of police on Black-out June 25 night, and will be assigned beats and cooperate with other war-time agencies in charge of Black-out regulations.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MEZEALL

In two full weeks it will be the 4th of July. . . Seems that summer is about over when the 4th comes along . . . and tomorrow is the first day of summer. So you see that our observations are slightly wrong . . . but just the same time does slip by mighty fast . . . that is why you should do everything you can each and every day . . . don't wait for tomorrow.

ATTENTION if you please . . . one issue of FORTUNE magazine is desired by this column . . . JUNE 1938 . . . If any one who has this particular issue would they be kind enough to call 4000 and ask for us. We will appreciate your cooperation on this matter. Call 2424 after this office is closed.

Not only will July 4th be a holiday for a lot of people but here in New Castle it will be "Marine Day" . . . there will be a large parade some time during the day with four platoons of Marines now stationed at Grove City College. A dinner will be held in the evening at the Cathedral . . . the day looks like a big one and all towns people are invited to attend . . . the cost per couple is five dollars. Cecil Seiber and Franklin Blanning are in charge of the "Day."

If you would like to have a small dog, female, just call 5969-J and you may pick up a very fine "pouch" . . . all free but call at once.

It seems that the young classes of the Senior high school are in favor of having class reunions. . . Another is here announced. . . The class of January, 1941 . . . this will be a picnic lunch, each bringing their own and the place . . . CASCADE PARK here in New Castle. . . Every one will sit down to eat at 8:30. . . The committee in charge would like to make this party a second class day . . . come on class of January, 1941, turn out 100% strong.

Tomorrow is Sunday again . . . some didn't attend church last Sunday . . . this would make a good Sunday to make up. . . Preachers don't expect their congregations to attend church every Sunday but they do expect them to maintain a fairly good average. So don't delay . . . Keep your spiritual nature fresh.

Adverse News From Libyan Front Has Effect On Market Prices

(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, June 20.—The stock market continued its slow retreat today under the weight of adverse news from the Libyan front.
Losses generally were small and a few scattered issues bucked the trend for modest gains. Trading was dull. Prices were comparatively steady in a mixed opening, but most stocks turned downward as the session progressed.
Rare common and certificates again were active features on the first common dividend payment in 76 years. Both issues moved up fractions.
Eastman Kodak was another independent firm spot, rising a point to 129. Fractional improvement was noted in U. S. Smelting, National Distillers, Consolidated Edison and Pepsi-Cola.
Leading the decline were Johnson-Manville, off 1 1/2 points to 53; Owens-Illinois Glass 47 1/2, off 1; Du Pont, down 1/2 at 113 1/2, and American Tobacco "B," off 1/4 at 44.
Lesser losses were incurred by U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Kennecott, Anaconda, Standard Oil of N. J., International Harvester, Santa Fe, American Can and United Aircraft. Bonds were irregular and quiet. Some of the second-grade rail issues were depressed. U. S. Governments continued dull.

Present Rules For Practice Blackout

Rules for the practice blackout for western Pennsylvania on the night of June 25th have been promulgated by the State Council of Defense.

Because of the length of the rules they will be published in the News in four sections with the first section appearing below.

Save the rules and familiarize yourself with the blackout requirements.

A. Partial Blackout—Dusk to Dawn—8:30 p. m. to 5:00 a. m.

A1. Individual. Individuals (pedestrians) shall proceed with their normal habits insofar as practicable. If flashlights are used they shall be equipped with a covering of red cellophane or a suitable substitute red material. The beam of light shall not project to a distance exceeding ten (10) feet. Never point a flashlight upward and keep the light on for only a few seconds at any one time. Do not point light at any smooth surface which will readily reflect light. Any open fire that is burning shall be extinguished. No additional fires shall be started.

A2. Residential. Customary habits and routine shall be followed as nearly as possible. Compliance with these requirements, which necessitate a blackout of dwelling from dusk to dawn, may be accomplished by either of the following methods:

(a) Extinguish all lights. This method is not generally recommended as it disrupts home life and lowers morale. (b) Obscure all lights to prevent any reflections on the outside which might be visible to the enemy. A slight incandescence through a shaded window that a dim light is burning within will be permissible for this practice blackout. Obscure tion may be accomplished by the use of paint, adhesive coverings, screens and shutters, light boxes or any other means which will prevent the normal interior illumination from being visible on the outside. At least one room so equipped should be provided in each residence. Use obscuration materials that are cheerful in color on the interior surface. Provide for ventilation.

A3. Stores, Theaters, Apartments, Hotels and Public Buildings. The same two methods used for meeting blackout requirements as explained under Residential are also applicable to this division. (a) Interior exit lights should be permitted to burn during blackouts, with the restriction that each exit light shall be located or shielded so as to screen direct light from falling on windows, doors or other openings, and that it shall be equipped with one Red lamp of not more than 15 watts. Buildings of the theater type should be equipped with blackout tested illuminated directional signs to exits and first-aid posts.

A4. Factories and Industrial Buildings. Industries engaged in production for the War or Navy Department are not required to participate in a partial blackout, but all superfluous lights should be extinguished. The Army and Navy give blackout instructions to factories producing for them.

Any industries not engaged in production for the War or Navy Department are required to follow the regulations established in Paragraph A3.

YWCA Camp Is Ready For Campers

First Period To Open Tuesday, June 23; Vacancies In Second-Third Periods

Camp East Brook Y. W. C. A. camp will be ready for 54 campers, signed up in the first period, on Tuesday morning, June 23, at 10 o'clock. Miss Dorothy Stewart, camp director, has been busy gathering the 101 camp supplies that are necessary to take care of 54 campers and their eight counselors, Mrs. Pearl Mills and Martha, the cooks, and Mr. Outwaite who is really Mr. First.

The weatherman has been considerate in holding off more rain long enough to get clear water out of the Neshannock river for the swimming pool and in warming the atmosphere for ideal camping weather.

Rumors have reached the Y. W. C. A. that some mothers are having a hard time entertaining their daughters these few days before the camp opens. Late Friday afternoon, there was still room for one more camper in the first period. The second and third periods, however, each have 12 or 13 places that are necessary to take care of the girls from 9 to 13 years of age in the second period—July 7-18, and 12 to 18 years of age in the third period, July 21, August 1.

June 20

Dear Brother Lion:

Our speaker next week will be Dr. Wolfgang Schmidt, professor of chemistry at Thiel college, Greenville. Dr. Schmidt is a native of Austria and was a prosperous business man in Vienna until Hitler walked in on him. After several months in concentration camps he escaped. He has a most interesting story to tell about his experiences.

We will also install our new officers and initiate new members at this meeting.

The meeting will be on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in The Castleton. No meeting next Tuesday.

Be prepared to make your reservations for the meeting on the 29th at the Field Club.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Hints On Etiquette

Once in awhile a friend will ask you to tell him or her the entire plot of a movie, then go ahead. As a general thing, however, people are bored by such a recital, so don't tell it to them.

Seversky's book, telling how to win the war by airpower, will probably be read by everybody but the people he is trying to convince.
